

Bharat is My Home by Dr. Zakir Hussain

Bharat is My Home is an excerpt from the speech of President Dr. Zakir Hussain. He delivered this speech 1967, after taking oath as President. He had also been the Governor of Bihar before becoming President.

In this speech, he dedicates himself to the service of the totality of Indian culture and civilization. On this occasion he remembers Dr. Radhakrishnan and praises him for bringing immense wealth of education and knowledge to the nation. He addresses India as the new state of ancient people and dedicates himself to the service of its old cultural values and ideals. He talks of working sincerely for the economic, social, and moral development of the country. He says that education is the main medium of the country's progress. There should be no discrimination against anyone on the basis of colour, caste, religion and language. He says that India is his home and its citizens are members of his family. He will do his best to make it better for those who are working to make life beautiful, prosperous and peaceful.

He urges people to contribute to the development of the country and to do their work faithfully to rebuild the cultural life of their people. Through his speech, he has given a strong message of morality and ethics. He peas people to live peacefully with the perfect harmony without any difference, hate and discrimination.
